

WCMY(AM) and WRKX(FM) has consistently employed a minimum of two full-time employees in news for over 32 years; many of those years have had three full-time reporters/writers/anchors working out of the news department. WCMY(AM) airs 18 local newscasts each weekday with several additional major local newscasts on Saturdays and Sundays. WRKX(FM) provides 8 locally-produced newscasts each weekday and 4 each day on Saturday and Sunday. Additionally, the news and announcing staffs are on duty for breaking, spot news coverage. WCMY(AM) has a history of local talk programming throughout the 50+ year history of the station. Currently, WCMY(AM) produces nine hours of locally-produced talk, information, and/or public affairs programming each weekday. The stations are closely involved with community activities and issues as it has historically devoted scheduled airtime as well as special-event airtime to address local issues, concerns, and events. WRKX(FM), when the need arises, breaks from regularly scheduled programming to address those needs and concerns, as well.
